

M'CLUSKY GIVES A "DRY" SUNDAY TO TENDERLOIN

Excise Arrests in Big Places on Broadway Closes
All Doors.

NONE ARE IMMUNE NOW.

Bingham Drops In at Station and Two Patrolmen
Find Trouble.

In the breasts of the hotel and saloon keepers of upper Broadway who cater to the Sunday thirst of the rich and well-to-do, there lies this morning the burden of a deep, dark despair. For Capt. George M'Clusky, in his first Sunday day off command in the Tenderloin, made "dry" the resorts hitherto deemed immune from the operation of the Excise law.

Politicians, men-about-town and men of the racing world who have been accustomed to make the hotel bar and Rathskeiler their headquarters on Sunday found that with real power in the hands of a Police Commissioner money and political pull had lost the power to "talk."

Capt. M'Clusky, instead of confining his energies to the poorer saloon-keepers on Sixth and seventh avenues and the side streets, after the manner of his predecessors, made Broadway his central point of attack. His first descent was made on the Hotel Albany, famous for years as the Hotel Vendome, and now controlled by Robert Murphy. Even the well-defined rumor that "Big Tim" Sullivan had an interest in the Albany, where he lives, failed to scare M'Clusky. Within an hour after the legal closing time for drinks on Saturday night Charles Viaz, a waiter at the Albany's Rathskeiler, James Silver, a waiter at the German Village, No. 147 West Fourth street; Joseph Meyer, waiter at Murray's Rathskeiler, at Thirty-fourth street and Broadway, and Henry Ross, of "Kid" McCoy's old saloon, at Forty-first street and Broadway, now run by George Grant, were on their way to the West Thirtieth street police station, having sold drinks to policemen out of uniform. In Jefferson Market Police Court all were held for trial.

Every resort in the Tenderloin, of high or low degree, promptly closed up as news of the arrests spread. Incidentally, the police under M'Clusky had a little excitement of their own yesterday, when Commissioner Bingham dropped in unexpectedly at the station-house. Before he left he had sworn by the nine gods of war that at least two of the patrolmen needed discipline and would get it.

One, William Shaughnessy, after standing at salute on Bingham's entrance, started to finish a report he was writing without waiting till the "boss" had left the room. The other, John P. Foley, didn't recognize the Commissioner, who was talking with the lieutenant at the desk when he came in. Foley "batted in" and asked for a piece of paper to write a report. Bingham ordered changes made against both Shaughnessy and Foley.

SOLDIER'S BRIDE, A YOUNG FLORIDA WOMAN, MISSING.

SOLDIER'S WIFE LOST IN NEW YORK

Came from Florida to Visit
Brother-in-Law and Has Disappeared.

Mrs. Hattie Godley, of Tampa, Fla., is lost in New York and the police and members of a big fraternal order are trying to help her husband, John, find her. John Godley is a member of the One Hundred and Eleventh Company of United States Coast Artillery, stationed at Tampa. On April 15 Mrs. Godley, a handsome young woman of twenty-three years, started for New York to pay a surprise visit to her brother-in-law, Leonard B. Hoyt, an actor of the "Chinatown Charlie" company. She had his address as No. 500 West Fifth street.

Hoyt had moved, and there was no one to meet the young Southern woman when she arrived. She did not find Hoyt at the address she went to and went in search of him. Private Godley was to follow his wife in three days, but owing to a change in his furlough he was able to start the next day. The soldier went to the Fifth street address, but found that Hoyt had moved. He and Hoyt both belonged to the Odd Fellows, and through that organization he discovered his brother-in-law at No. 126 West Sixty-sixth street. Mrs. Godley was nowhere to be found.

Godley went to Police Headquarters to-day and asked that a general alarm be sent out for the police to look for his wife. When she came here she had her ticket and $15. She knew nothing of a great city, and her husband fears she is lost and probably without funds. She is light-complexioned, with light-brown hair and blue eyes, stands five feet, four inches and weighs 102 pounds. When she left home she wore a light waist and dark-blue skirt, a long black cloak and a white hat.

Detective Fogarty was detailed on the case.

DYNAMITERS POISON WITNESS AGAINST THEM.

Arsenic Given Man Who Got Evidence in Blowing Up of Church.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WELLES-BARRIE, Pa., April 29.—Owing to an attempt to murder William H. Kushpin, the trial of the men accused of dynamiting the Edwardsville Baptist Church may be postponed. Kushpin is the chief witness for the prosecution and has been active in working up the cases against the accused. The police say that friends of the prisoners tried to poison Kushpin, who was taken seriously sick yesterday. Physicians called in said that a large dose of arsenic had been administered.

The pastor of the church, Rev. T. G. Edwards, actively fought saloon-keepers of the town, and it is believed that some of these hired the prisoners to dynamite the church in revenge.

RAILROAD SLEUTH KILLED HIS MAN IN PISTOL DUEL

Alleged Freight Thief
Died at Home After Fight in River Yard.

Henry Michaels, twenty-one years old, died at his home, No. 114 West End avenue, to-day as a result of a bullet wound in the abdomen inflicted by Charles Hette, a railroad detective.

In a fight with Michaels and his brother, Peter, twenty-five years old, in the freight yards at Eighty-fourth street and the North River, early yesterday morning, Hette fired two shots. One of them proved mortal for Henry. The other hit Peter in the right leg, inflicting a slight wound.

Hette said the brothers were trying to break into freight cars, and had smashed the seals on three when he discovered them.

He declared that Peter tried to shoot him, but that he knocked Peter down before he could fire. Then Henry came to the assistance of his brother, and the detective fired two shots, according to his story. Henry jumped away, but Hette overpowered Peter and bludgeoned him with a club. Michaels, who was on the ground, was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Henry made his way home and told his mother that he was going to bed, as he had been hurt in a fight.

Dr. Wynne, of No. 106 West Sixty-fourth street, examined the bullet and reported the case to the police of the West Sixty-sixth Street Station. When a policeman was sent to the house to arrest Michaels, he was told by the young man's mother that her son was not at home. Michaels' crew worked through the night and died this morning.

Most of the Digestion occurs in the thirty feet of intestines. They are lined with a set of little mouths, that squeeze Digestive Juices into the Food eaten.

The intestines are also lined with millions of little suction-pumps, that draw the Nutrient from Food, as it passes them in going through.

But, when the Bowel-Muscles are weak, the Food moves too slowly to stimulate the little Gastric Mouths and there is no flow or too little flow of Digestive Juice to change the Food into nourishment.

Then, the food decays in the Bowels and the little suction-pumps draw Poison from the decayed Food. Into the blood, instead of the Nutrition they should have drawn.

Now, Cascarets contain the only combination of drugs that Stimulates these Muscles of the Bowels and Intestines just as a Cold Bath, or open-air Exercise, stimulates a Lazy Man.

Cascarets therefore act like Exercise. They produce the same sort of Natural result that a Six Mile walk in the country would produce without any Injurious Chemical effect.

The Vest Pocket Cascaret Box is sold by all Druggists at Ten Cents.

Be sure you get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

LAWYER FAILS TO GET THAW LETTERS

Court Refuses to Give A. Russell Peabody Those Written to Delmas.

Before Justice Fitzgerald in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court to-day A. Russell Peabody, of Harrington & Peabody, attorneys of record for Henry Thaw, made a formal motion for the return to him of the letters which Thaw wrote to his chief counsel, D. M. Delmas, during the trial for the murder of Stanford White, and which Delmas offered before the late lunacy commission as proof of his client's sanity.

"I decline to make any such order as you request, Mr. Peabody," said the Justice.

Mr. Peabody at once left the court. Clerk Penney explained that as the letters to Delmas had properly become a part of the record in the case, the Justice could not surrender them to any one until the indictment against Thaw had been finally disposed of.

It has been recalled that when Lawyer Dan O'Reilly became attorney for Thaw, just after the jury had disagreed, he served notice upon Clerk Penney that no papers of any sort used in the trial must be surrendered to any one, except upon his written order. Accordingly, when Mr. Delmas's partner, Henry McKee, asked for the same letters a day or two later, Mr. Penney had to refuse him.
